NEW YORK, Oct 7—Following is Tilden's response to the committee of the artifonal democratic convention conveying to 1 in the resolutions of that hold.

response to the committee of the actional democratic convention comeying to him the resolutions of that boils.

To the Chaussan and tentlemen of the Committee I thank you for the kind terms in which you have communicated be resolution concerning me, adopted by the late democratic national convertible. I share your convictions that reform in the administration of the februal government, which is our great national want, and is indeed sessified to the restration and preservation of the government liself, can only be arhieved through the agency of the democratic party and is installing by representative in the chief magistracy of the inted States. The noble his orient in all to the representative in the chief magistracy of the inted States. The noble his orient in this set we been, in the man, faithful, its freeden from corrapt influences which grow up in the prolonged possession of lower, and the nature of the elements which constitute it, all contribute to qualify it for that mission. The opposite characterist is and conditions which attach to the republican party will be able to give a better government than the dehasing system of abuses which, during its accendency, has infected of icial are political life in this country.

HISTORICAL COMPARISONS

It has been boastingly asserted, by a modern Massachuseits statesmin, tirruggling to reconcile hunself and his to lowers to "their presidential candidate, that the republican par y contains a disproportionate share of the wealth, the culture and intelligence if the country. The culture and intelligence if the country. The culture and intelligence is the country. The culture and intelligence is the country. The culture and intelligence is the country.
